FEBRUARY 20, 1914, NORWAY, MAINE.

VOLUME XLV.

Sunlight Banquet, Beal's Tavern.

H. H. Spinney, late superintendent of the Norway Shoe Factory and a friend from Lynn were in town Wednesday and were entertained by their friends at a one o'clock banquet at the Beal's Tavern.

There were 37 present and discussed Norway shoe manufacturing problem and partook of the good things furnished by Landlord Seavey. Menu:

- Grapefruit Cocktail
- Purée of Tomatoes aux Croutons
- Bread Sticks
- Olives
- Boiled Chicken
- Saratoga Chips
- Roast Potatoes
- Hot Rolls
- Harlequin Ice Cream
- Toasted Crackers
- Coffee

The discussions and remarks were interesting and showed a determination of the citizens to do something.

It was a marked testimonial of the appreciation held by our citizens for B. F. Spinney & Co. and their late superintendent, H. H. Spinney.

The following were present:

- Frank Kimball, H. L. Horne, Hon. A. S. Kimball, G. L. Foster, Col. J. L. Stearns, H. D. Smith, D. M. French, G. Ralph Harrison, L. M. Longley, F. J. Cook, Z. L. Merchant, Dr. E. E. Drake, A. L. Clark, Dennis E. Rice, Chas. H. Rice, C. S. Akers, A. L. Buck.

Ladies' Night.

Ladies' Night was observed by the Masque Lodge at Mason's Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 13, with an attendance of about 215. A fine cold meat and salad and pasty supper was served in the dining hall at 7 o'clock.

Following the supper a minstrel show was presented by members of the order. The men were E. E. Andrews, L. J. Gilbert, S. W. Goodwin and Fred Smith. The chorus aside from the end men included Frank Brett, Dr. H. L. Bartlett, Walter Brown, W. L. Merrill, A. J. Stearns, H. E. Andrews, Merritt Welch, C. S. Akers was interactor.

An orchestra composed of Frank Kimball, Ray Eastman, James N. Fawcett, C. Morrill and Howard B. Young furnished music as the curtain parted.

Selections were given by the quartet composed of Frank Kimball, Walter Brown, Wiggin L. Merrill and A. J. Stearns, and solos by W. L. Merrill and Walter Brown. Several mandolin selections were given by T. C. Morrill. Dr. H. P. Jones was accompanist.

The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed. The jokes on the different members were good and caused no small amount of fun and applause. Following the entertainment dancing was enjoyed in the dining hall with music furnished by Mel Dunham, Nathan Noble and Mrs. E. S. Moore.

Mrs. Sarah Emeline Packard.

Mrs. Sarah Emeline Packard died at the home of her son, E. C. Packard in Norway, Monday, Feb. 19, at 11:45 a. m. of organic disease of the heart, aged 78 years, 10 months and 22 days. Mrs. Packard was born in Greenwood, March 25th, 1835, the daughter of Charles and Jennima (Young) Doughty, and had always lived in Greenwood until last fall when she moved to Norway with her son, E. C. Packard and family. She was a farmer's daughter and a farmer's wife. She married Asa Packard, in March 1855. He died Oct. 23, 1901, since then she has made her home with her son, E. C. Packard.

Her children were Franklin S. Packard a farmer of Norway; Emma J. wife of Frank Hill of West Paris; Dora A. Packard, died in 1880; Edward D. Packard, a farmer who has a farm in Greenwood, but at present is living in Norway village. She is also survived by a brother, George Doughty, and a sister, Mrs. Almira Rickett both of Norway, five grand children and several nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Packard believed in the Universalist faith. The funeral was from her late home Thursday at 1 o'clock, p. m., Rev. C. G. Miller the officiating clergyman. The bearers were the nephews of deceased. The remains were placed in this tomb, and the burial in the Spring will be in the family lot in Greenwood cemetery.

Norway High 34; Bridgton Academy 22.

Bridgton Academy was defeated by Norway High, Friday night in a very fast game. The locals appeared to be the faster of the two but Bridgton played a very clean game.

The referee kept very busy tending to the fouls, Norway boys making twenty while Bridgton made only twelve. Although Capt. Shepard made his twelve chances equal to many scoring points as Capt. Sanderson did his twenty.

Sanderson, the name on whom Bridgton figured as their greatest player, was unable to do his average work, for he found a faster guard than he had ever been up against before. Klain not only holding him down to one floor basket, but found plenty of time to drop in three floor baskets for himself.

Isabel, the other Norway guard was also there with the goods shooting five baskets.

The local forwards were unable to show their ability, by being closely covered by the team guards. Manager Chute was very wild in his shooting but he showed great team work at center.

Next Friday night Norway will play Morse High of Bath at the Opera House here. The game means a lot to both teams and we expect a very fast one. They also expect a large crowd for the people now know that Norway High basketball team is among the few fast teams of the State.

NEW PERFUME BOTTLES.

How to Make Stand For Small Cologne Bottle.

Most women like to have a bottle of eau de cologne on their dressing table, for apart from the refreshing toilet properties of this scent, it is exceedingly useful in case of a sick headache or sudden attack of faintness. A little stand accompanying it has many merits, for it not only provides a touch of dainty coloring for one's bedroom, but also keeps the bottle from being easily knocked over and broken.

Scent bottles are made in standard sizes, so before commencing to make the stand procure the bottle of eau de cologne. Then take careful measurements, and your case will fit properly and can be refilled at will. To make the stand cut a round of stiff cardboard three inches larger in diameter than the bottle and another strip of cardboard which when joined will allow the bottle to be lifted in and out with ease.

Cover both the surfaces with fancy silk or ribbon and line with either the same silk or a piece of thin white satin. Oversew all the edges and then stitch the upright portion of the case to the center of the base. The oversewed edges are trimmed with fine cord and a spray of artificial flowers or a smart bow of ribbon attached to the stand. Let the case be in keeping with the character of the scent. For instance, a bottle of violet extract could be incased in mauve figured silk or embossed velvet and decorated with a bunch of ribbon violets.

How to Restore Craze.

It costs from $2.50 to $5 to restore a widow's veil, the price depending upon the size of it, but the work can be done at home for nothing at all, even by an unskilled person. You lay a folded sheet upon a table and pin down the veil to it very carefully. The hems must be straight and all edges laid flat. Then you take a clean white cloth wrung out of hot water and lay over a portion of the craze.

When the veil is smooth hold a very hot iron over the wet cloth and about two inches away from it. It must never for a moment touch the wet rag. Go all over the craze as directed and do not take from the sheet until perfectly dry. The craze will then be crisp and, in fact, exactly like new.

No matter how wrinkled it may have been before, it will be perfectly smooth now. Smaller pieces of craze may be renovated in the same way.

How to Clean Light Cloth Suit.

Buy two large blocks of magnesia. Lay suit or white felt hat on sheet on flat surface and rub into the garment as much magnesia as it will hold. Do both sides. Lay article away in sheet for a week or more; then take up, shake and brush. The suit will be much cleaner and fresher. It is very good for white felt hats and baby coats.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Visit to The Old Man In the Woods.

JACK and Evelyn were waiting for daddy to come home. They were through playing games, and as they felt quite tired the only thing they wanted was daddy's story. So as soon as he came into their room Evelyn rushed up to him and said, "Daddy, do tell us tonight a story about a little girl."

"Well," said daddy, "a little boy named Bobbie had a sister named Agnes. They were just about the same ages that you two children are. They had very few neighbors, as they lived in a very small place where there were only a few houses. Near their house were long stretches of woods. They had never been to the other side of the woods nor had they ever really walked very far into the forest, for it was said in the little hamlet where they lived that a queer old man had a little hut about a mile and a half through the long lonely road. The reports of him also were that he lived all by himself and that he ate rabbits and partridges, for which he went hunting every day. But no one had ever seen him, as they were all afraid of him."

"One day Bobbie and Agnes had been playing all the games they could think of. You see, there were no other children in the tiny town, and so they always had to play by themselves. Of course they were devoted to each other and had a very good time, but sometimes they would have liked a change."

"This day, though, they were tired of all their usual games. 'Let's go and see the old man in the woods,' suggested Bobbie."

"Do you dare?" asked Agnes.
"Yes," said Bobbie. "For I'm sure he is not so dreadful as he is made out to be, and, anyway, I'd like to see him."

"So would I," responded Agnes.
"Now, the mother and daddy of Agnes and Bobbie had never told them not to go into the woods to the old man's hut, as they never for a moment dreamed they would dare go."

"But off they started, and after walking quite a distance they came to a funny little hut with smoke coming out of the chimney. When the old man saw Bobbie and Agnes he called out in a happy, excited voice: 'I'm having visitors! Hurrah!'"

"He took the children in his hut and showed them some wonderful picture books. He told them how delighted he was to have visitors, as he knew he was thought queer, but really he wasn't at all, except that he loved to live in the heart of the woods. So the children promised to see him often, and he promised to show them more picture books, and before they left he gave them each a big piece of delicious apple pie."

ABE JEDFOOT, ESQ.

Tells His Friend, the Colonel, of Two Big Schemes.

A LOT OF WASTED ENERGY.

Sees Wonderful Possibilities In Jumping Frogs and Discovers That There Is No Occasion For a Cow to Switch Her Tail.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

"LOOK a-heeh, Kurnel Dawson," began Abe Jedfoot, the lawyer, as he met the colonel in the postoffice, "people in this county are callin' me lazy and shiftless and sayin' I won't never amount to cobs with the co'n shucked off. Hev I had a fair show in this county? Hasn't everybody tried to keep me down from the beginnin'?"

"Nice day, Abe," said the colonel as he dodged the question.
"Powerful nice day, kurnel, and I want yo' to listen to me fur a few minutes. I've got some schemes I want to unfold and ask yo' about. Kurnel, how fur kin the average frog jump?"

"Six feet, I reckon."
"That's the distance, kurnel, to an inch. Now then, how many frogs in the United States?"

"Shoo! I couldn't guess that, Abe."
"Well, sah, I kin. I put down the number at 250,000,000. Those are all

"JUMPIN' SIX FEET AT A CLIP."

jumpin' frogs, every one of 'em jumpin' six feet at a clip and forty jumps a day. That's 240 feet a day fur each and every frog. In one day the frogs of America jump 60,000,000,000 feet. Think of the result fur a month, fur a year!"

"It's tremendous, Abe, positively tremendous!" gasped the colonel.

"Yo' bet it is, and they all jump fur fur. See the pint, kurnel? See my little scheme? It's to make them frogs jump fur business instead o' sport. In other words, make use of the power exercised. It can be stored like electricity and made use of to run every factory in the world. Ten jumpin' frogs, each one jumpin' six feet, make enough power to run a sewing machine half an hour. Every 100 frogs will run a grist mill half a day. That's jest common jumpin'. Hire a boy to go around with a pole and stir 'em up, and each frog will jump nine feet and never tech a foot. 'The more frogs the more jumps; the more power the more factories and the cheaper they kin be run."

"And look heah, kurnel," continued Abe as he pushed the colonel against the wall and held him there. "I'm no man to give my soul up to one scheme."

How many cows in the United States, kurnel?"

"Shoo! Heaps of 'em."

"About 40,000,000, kurnel, and fly-time lasts an average of fo' months, or 120 days. Fur fo' months every cow is switchin' her tail twelve hours per day. That's 1,440 hours to a cow, or about 8,000,000,000 hours fur all of 'em. Every time a cow switches her tail she puts fo'th power enough to wind up the family clock. She switches thirty-five times an hour, or 420 times per day. The power fur one day would run a street car five miles. The tail power of 2,000,000 cows for 120 days would run all the sawmills in the country all winter. It's a double barreled scheme, kurnel—one that works both ways. Every time a cow switches her tail it reduces her strength and takes away from the quantity of milk. I figger that twelve hours' switchin' takes away at least a pint. That's a loss of 1,000,000 quarts a day."

"But cows have got to switch," said the colonel.

"Yo' mean their tails hev got to twist around and skeer the flies off? Yes, of co'se, though it don't do any good as the flies come right back. But the idea is to fasten a spring to each cow's tail and make the spring do the work. How does it strike yo', kurnel?"

"It's a big thing, Abe—the biggest thing I ever heard of!" exclaimed the colonel as they shook hands.

"Oh, by the way, kurnel!"

"What is it, Abe?"

"That's Joe Taylor's saloon right across the road, and bein' yo' was kind 'nuff to invite me to licker I don't mind if I take a leetle co'n juice—just a leetle to keep the skin on my ears from peelin' off, you know?"

A LOST VOTE.

I SHALL not vote for Mrs. Diggs. I do not like her gown.

And I remember well the digs I got from Clara Brown.

Jemima Patterson Mages Shall get no vote of mine.

A hard, stuckup thing is she. And I also decline

To vote for Anastasia Burns. I fairly boil with rage

When I recall that more than once She lied about my age.

And what Jones and Agnes Carr And Clementina Bell

I'll scratch because they never are "At home" the days I call.

I cannot vote, you understand, For Angelina Pratt.

Because she isn't stylish and She wears a last year's hat.

Oh, goodness me, that brings me through "The list!" The ballot's small.

There's no one left! What shall I do? I cannot vote at all!

A Sure Thing.

According to a nurse in one of the big hospitals, a visiting surgeon recently caused a robust patient almost to collapse by joking with him after an operation.

"What are my chances for recovery?" asked the patient.

"Splendid," said the surgeon.

"What do you mean by splendid?"

"Why, you have one chance in twenty for recovery."

"That is not very encouraging. I can't see how my chances are as splendid as you say."

"Well, I'll explain," said the surgeon. "In this particular operation it is generally conceded that there is one chance in twenty for the patient to recover. The last nineteen patients I have operated upon for your complaint died, so you are the one out of the twenty who ought to recover."—New York Tribune.

ECONOMY.

One of the greatest curses of American civilization today is the fact that it is unfashionable to save and that the people are ashamed to save, while extravagance, waste and carelessness are looked upon as smart and signs of prosperity.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

The public service for Valley Spring Lodge, Knights of Pythias, in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the order at Grange hall on Sunday last was omitted on account of the severe storm of Saturday. The service is only postponed to a near future date.

Mrs. Minnie Gullow of New Hampshire is visiting her mother, Mrs. Nellie Billings, and family.

Intelligence of the recent death of Maurice B. Patch of Buffalo, N. Y., has been received from a friend residing in Malden, Mass. Mr. Patch was a native of Otisfield and was 62 years old at his decease. His father was Benjamin Patch and his mother, Elizabeth Knight, both of old leading families of the town. He removed in his childhood with his family to Lowell, Mass., and received his education in the schools of that city and in the institute of Technology of Massachusetts, with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1872 at the age of 20. His special studies were in mining and engineering, and during a professional career of more than 40 years he had a most successful career in Colorado, Michigan and in Buffalo, as an expert professor of Metallurgy, especially in copper ones, and was distinguished in the best scientific circles for his profound researches in those branches of industry. Mr. Patch was held in the highest esteem socially, and was promoted to honorable civil offices in civil life, holding at his death the important position of Chairman of the Grade Crossing Commission. His death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barr in Derby, N. Y., Mrs. Barr being a daughter of Mr. Patch. He is survived by a widow, three sons and two daughters. His remains were buried from his late residence, 822 Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo.

ALBANY.

A. G. Bean and wife have been visiting their three sons at Lewiston, Auburn and Oxford for a week.

Wallace E. Cummings, who has been at home for a month or more looking after the sick folks and doing chores, has come back to the Corner again to work for Abel and Arthur Andrews cutting timber.

Abel and Arthur Andrews have the larger part of their pulp wood hauled off of the mountain and a good share of it hauled to the brook.

Archie Bass, who has been stopping near Mechanic Falls for the last three or four years with Henry Cross, has come back to Albany and gone to work for Isaac Merrill and son in their new mill in the East part of the town.

D. A. Cummings is having a bad time with his foot. The gangrene has got into it so he is about the same as laid up.

Feb. 12th, was one of the coldest days we ever had. Too cold for man or beast to work out doors. Saturday, Feb. 14th, we had a heavy snow storm; the roads were so badly drifted our mail carrier could not get through.

WEST SUMMER.

A successful term of school taught by Edith Barrett closed Saturday, Feb. 14. Some alarm was caused, Monday, by James Tuell's chimney burning out, but the flames were soon under control.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Hood's Sarsaparilla, Old-time Remedy, Purifies the Blood.

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They may be either inherited or acquired. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other has the same formula or ingredients. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

WEST BETHEL.

Mrs. Vienna Holt.

Sunday, Feb. 15 occurred the funeral of Mrs. Vienna Holt, who died Feb. 12, aged 75 years. On account of the severe storm the funeral was held at her home.

Rev. J. H. Little speaking words of comfort. The funeral was in charge of Fred Tibbets. Interment in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Her husband, the late Milton Holt died fifteen years ago. She had three sisters and one brother, who survive her. Those from out of town to attend the funeral were Milton Bean from Medford, Mass., Mrs. Jennie Horton from West Acton, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gilman from Lovell, Frank Kimball, Leway. Mrs. Holt has been kindly cared for this winter by her sister, Mrs. Mary Bean.

On account of the severe storm and cold there was no school Monday.

Mrs. H. P. Denison was quite ill, Saturday.

Monday the road machine was out in full force. The road across the Flat is said to be in a bad condition.

LOVELL.

Walter H. Eastman was drawn juryman to attend the March term of school.

Mrs. James Charles has been quite sick.

The water works at the village are out of commission. The pipe is frozen or burst. People have to lug their water from the well by C. K. Chapman's.

The selectmen are busy closing up the business of the year.

Gay Morse's little girl has been very sick but is some better.

There will be two more nights of dancing school. It has been a large school and the young people have enjoyed it very much.

John E. Emery, Lovell's oldest citizen, will be 91 years old Feb. 20. He had the best garden in town last year and does all the work in it. May be he and his good wife live years yet in their pleasant home, is the wish of their many friends in this and surrounding towns.

SUCKFELD.

Streaked Mountain.

Walter Cabot and Gene Vertell are hauling the pulp wood from the C. E. Foster lot to Hebron station.

Richmond Taylor, who has been at Charles Maxim's several days, has returned home.

Mrs. Ames has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to return to H. N. Stone's where she works.

Frank Jewell spent the week-end with his wife in Norway.

Mrs. E. C. Foster, who was ill for a few days last week, is much improved.

Mrs. Lilla Benson is working for Fred Knapton at Eastchurch.

George Maxim was in Portland a few days last week, visiting Charles Yeaton.

By far the hardest storm of the winter occurred Saturday. In the roads there were many drifts three to four feet deep, and it took the men with their teams all day, Sunday, to make travelling possible.

Mrs. Ralph Stone was calling in Buckfield, Wednesday.

On account of the cold weather Charles Clark did not make his customary trip to Mechanic Falls this week.

Mrs. James Bumpus and daughter, Alice were in Lewiston last week.

Merton Stone spent Sunday with his mother in Buckfield.

Ralph Stone was in Norway, Thursday.

WATERFORD.

Mrs. Rideout left Saturday morning for a visit to relatives in Winchester, Mass.

Eleanor Huse of Boston is the guest of Mrs. Ellen Knight.

Will Heath is breaking his pair of colts. They bid fair to make a fine working team.

On account of the storm the exchange between Rev. H. H. Hoyt of Hiram and our minister was postponed until next Sunday. Also the anniversary service of the Knights of Pythias was put over to next Sunday in the South Waterford Grange hall at 2.30 p. m. In consequence of this action the service which was to be held in East Waterford school-house next Sunday at 2 p. m., will be held on the 1st of March at the same hour.

John Craig of Portland spent several days last week at the Lake House.

OXFORD

Rev. Harry Upton of Portland and a student at Colby, came to Oxford for Mr. Lindsay, but owing to the storm of Saturday there was no service in the Methodist church at Oxford or Welchville.

Mr. Upton preached in the Congregational chapel, Sunday evening.

Rev. Malcolm McKay attended the Boys' conference at Lewiston. He was unable to get home to preach to his people, Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Fanklingham of the Advent church was more fortunate than the others for he had a small congregation to preach to.

Mrs. Henry Jenkins went to Portland, Monday, to Dr. Cousins' hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Evelyn LeBlond stepped on a broken stair in the mill, Saturday noon, and twisted her ankle and broke her leg. She was carried to her mother's, Mrs. Mary Irving's.

HOW TO DRESS FOR WINTER MOTORING.

A woman who has toured much says that for a long run in cold weather she designed a scheme of attire that proved entirely satisfactory, and her advice, being based on experience, is likely to prove of use to readers, so it is handed on. Protection from cold being the great point, she had a serge skirt made, lined to give extra warmth, and with this wore a plain silk skirt and pulled over it a white jersey, with a collar coming well up around the neck, on the style of the ordinary fisherman's knitted ones. Over this came a dark blue fur lined motor coat, and for headgear she wore a knitted cap with ear flaps that fastened under the chin. As a result there was no veil to get untidy or blown about, no risk from chilly air, while the cap fitted closely enough to keep the coiffure perfectly in order whatever the speed or the amount of wind that might be blowing.

MINIATURE HOUSE.

How to Make Kiddies Happy With New Plaything.

The fastidious small doll need no longer use a special sort of furniture, which comes from Germany and has been in vogue in doll-doms for years, of somewhat uncertain period and style. She can now find in some of the most exclusive shops perfect miniature copies of the mahogany furniture used in the house of her small mistress' parents and yet of a size suitable for a doll's house.

Highboys eight or ten inches high, old fashioned cradles, bureaus, chairs and beds can all be obtained in mahogany stained wood. A diminutive mirror, gilt framed and with a pretty colored print in a small panel at the top, suitable for hanging over the highboy, can also be had for the asking. Simple brass candlesticks and tiny white wax candles would be suitable accessories for a colonial room in a doll's house, and rag rugs, crocheted, can be purchased in sizes beginning as small as three inches in diameter. White enameled furniture for the doll's house is made for bedrooms, living rooms and dining rooms, and a whole house can now be furnished in white.

All the latest conveniences and labor saving devices, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, typewriters, chafing dishes and automobiles are also made in sizes suitable for the doll's house of medium size. Fireplaces, with ever burning fires of tinsel, come five inches high, with andirons and bellows in a stand at their side. Tea sets, perfect in every detail; tray, teakettle, teapot, cups and saucers, with tiny spoons and sugar tongs, sets of dishes and table linen, birds in cages, desk sets with pen, paper and desk pad; toilet articles for dressing table and washstand, fur rugs and telephone are all now made for the doll's house.

FEATHER BOAS.

How to Renovate These Modish Much Worn Accessories.

A fine and rather windy day should be chosen for the washing of feather boas. It should be proceeded with in the following manner:

Make a nice warm lather of soapy water. Care must be taken to see that the soap is thoroughly dissolved. Into this dip the boas, etc., gently squeezing them. The soil will quickly come out into the water. Dip them thus again and again, then get a second lot of water and repeat the dipping. When the water remains clean the washing process is finished. Avoid rubbing the boas. Let the water do the work.

After the last water the boas should be rinsed, and if a pure white color is desired dip in a faint blue water.

The boas must now be shaken well. At this stage they will look quite ruined, but an hour or so's hanging in the air will make them perfect once more. The feathers if curly before will be so again, and if not known it would never be suspected that they had ever been in water.

Before putting the boas away they should be gently shaken over the fire, and at any time if the boas are exposed to damp this will revive them.

How to Keep Shoes Clean.

Twenty-five cents is the price of a little contrivance which any man would appreciate, and there is no reason why it should not find favor with busy women too. It is a shoe polisher which can be carried about in the pocket or handbag.

It is a little strip of lamb's wool a couple of inches wide and twice as long, backed with a piece of leather. When the polisher is not in use it is rolled up with the leather side out and clasped shut with a ball and socket clasp.

How to Make Economical Jelly.

One pint of cranberries, four large apples, one cupful of boiling water, two cupfuls of sugar, one-third cupful of cold water, two-thirds inch piece of stick cinnamon, twelve whole cloves, four allspice berries and a grain of salt, slice and core apples. Add to cranberries with boiling water and let boil until berries are soft. Rub through a sieve, add remaining ingredients, except salt, and bring to boiling point and simmer fifteen minutes. Add salt, turn into mold and chill.

It is said that a full grown elephant is strong enough to carry three tons on its back.

Farm Life in Maine.
With one's own cow to furnish milk, butter and cream; with one's own hens to lay the useful eggs, he must be a poor thing indeed, who cannot furnish the sugar and the pie crust for a custard pie; with salt pork in the pork barrel, with hams and bacon and fresh spare-ribs from the family pig, one can defy all times and high cost of living, if he resides on a Maine farm in the bleak down east, though the rats be blocked with snowdrifts and the intense cold almost penetrate to the potatoes inside the cellar bin.

Feel Miserable?
Out of sorts, depressed, pain in the back—Electric Bitters renews your health and strength. A guaranteed Liver and Kidney remedy. Money back if not satisfied. SWIMMING FACILITIES FOR DUCKS.

A visit to most of our prominent duck plants will disclose the fact that, while they raise millions of young, green ducks for market without their having had a day's swim, yet they furnish swimming facilities to their breeding ducks. This is because ducks naturally pair in the water, and thus those that swim lay eggs with a higher average fertility and greater hatchability, and the ducklings are of stronger vitality, better breeders and can stand more forcing for market. The great aim in market ducking-raising is to get quick, big growth and to keep the duck soft and juicy. Exercise in swimming, like other healthful exercise, makes muscle.

ALONG THE SHORE.
hardens the flesh, retards fat, creates stamina and uses up food in the process.

That is why the swimming duck is harder, stronger, tougher and thinner than the market ducking, and that is why, on the contrary, the market ducking is such a fast grower, so toothsome and juicy. It melts in the mouth, is so large and lovely because it exercises but little and loafs and eats much, and most of its food just quickly turns into layers of fancy flesh and fancy fat. The only time it goes to swim is when it is driven in to wash off before killing, and so unused to swimming are they that we have seen them refuse to do that.

Duck growers along streams simply inclose water along shore, or others make ponds or dams, the thickness of the dam wall, depending on volume and velocity of water and made thicker at base than top. The proportions for making the concrete dam wall shown were one barrow of sharp sand and two of clean gravel to one sack of cement. The majority of duck raisers feed their breeding ducks fish, either fresh or fish scrap. This tends to vigor in breeding and offspring and increases fertility.

DON'TS.

Don't cultivate pessimistic traits, but hoe your own row.
Don't be mercenary. You may pile up money by the plan, but be stigmatized "a miserly man."
Don't write the editor for poultry information, but write us, and don't write us until you have tried to think it out for yourself first.
Don't throw dead fowls where they will rot and breed maggots. A blow fly may come from that carcass to your table and bring disease and destruction.
Don't buy a stack of poultry wire unless sure the chickens can't go through. Leghorns go right through wire that grades from small to large squares toward the top and over anything with top rail.
He—Are you happy, darling? She—Oh, I am doubly happy! He—You are, eh? Who's the other fellow?

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache."

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women

Let the Boys Go Free.

"One Sunday morning a minister was requested to teach a lesson of Christian courage to a class of convicts in the prison chapel. He had scarcely begun when a prisoner asked permission to speak to him."

"Are you a Christian?" "Yes," was the surprised reply. "And a minister of the gospel?" "I am."
"And you have come down here to tell us the meaning of Christian courage. Now, see here, most of us fellows were brought here by strong drink. You look us up and let strong drink go free. Why don't you look up strong drink and let us go free? The reason you don't do it is because you haven't got the Christian courage."
Many a tortured mother-heart, many a sin-bound prisoner, pleaded: "Look up strong drink, and let our boys go free." Isn't it about time in this "land of the free" and "home of the brave" that our boys have a chance for true liberty?"

The Button Story.

On a Sunday evening Willie was taken to church by his mother and father. The preacher spoke about the heathen in Africa, told of their unfortunate condition and asked for a special collection for their benefit.
"Mama," said little Willie when they had returned to their own happy home, "Is it true what the preacher said about some of the heathen not wearing any clothes?"
"Yes, my dear," answered mama, "it is unfortunately too true."
"Then mama," was the rather surprising rejoinder of Willie, "what was the use of papa putting that button in the collection box?"

Paint Now.

If your property needs it, don't wait. There are two parts of a job: the painting and the work; the work is more than the paint.
The cost of paint is about two-fifths; the work three-fifths.
Paint won't come down in a hurry: too many jobs put off.
Men are waiting for $2 or $3; they don't know it; they think they are waiting for $20 or $25.

A CLERGYMAN
Came Near Losing His

The following letter was received by The Peruna Co., from Rev. G. W. Roberts, R. R. 2, Box 27, Hartsell, Alabama, under date of April 2, 1904, which is exactly nine years ago. He says: "I take pleasure in informing you of what your Peruna has done for me after three years of suffering. I had tried the treatment of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all had gone. My friends, like myself, thought I was in the last stages of consumption."

"My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and placed with me to use. I had got so weak I had lost my voice, and I thought it no use. This was in May, 1902. I began to take it, according to directions. I wrote to you, and you gave me your kind advice."

"I soon felt better, my cough began to give way, and the expectorated lessened. I have taken fourteen bottles. I feel well, eat hearty, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did, do considerable work on my farm and attend to my other business. My friends seem astonished at my recovery."

"I wish to thank you for your kind advice and the books you have sent me. I shall ever praise your medicine and hope that you may enjoy a long life."

It will be observed that Rev. Roberts waited two years after he began to use Peruna, before he wrote the above letter to The Peruna Co. That his apparent recovery could possibly have been temporary relief. In a later letter to The Peruna Co. dated September 22, 1909, Rev. Roberts says: "I am a great friend of Peruna. By the use of Dr. Hartman's advice I am here to-day, able to work with my family and attend to my business."

A CLERGYMAN'S STORY

Came Near Losing His Life—How He Escaped

The following letter was received by the Rev. G. W. Roberts, R. R. 2, Box 27, Hartsell, Ala., under date of April 2, 1904, which is exactly nine years ago. He says: "I take pleasure in informing you of what your Peruna has done for me after three years of suffering. I had tried the treatments of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all hope had gone. My friends, like myself, thought I was in the last stages of consumption."

"My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and plead with me to try it. I had got so weak I had lost my voice, and I thought it no use. That was in May, 1902. I began to take it, according to directions. I wrote to you, and you gave me your kind advice."

"I soon felt better, my cough began to give way, and the expectation lessened. I have taken fourteen bottles. I feel well, eat hearty, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did, do considerable work on my farm, and attend to my other business. My friends seem astonished at my recovery."

"I wish to thank you for your kind advice and the books you have sent me. I shall ever praise your medicine and hope that you may enjoy a long life."

It will be observed that Rev. Roberts waited two years after he began to use Peruna, before he wrote the above letter to The Peruna Co. So that his apparent recovery could not possibly have been temporary relief.

In a later letter to The Peruna Co., dated September 22, 1909, Rev. Roberts says: "I am a great friend of Peruna. By the use of Dr. Hartman's advice I am here to-day, able to be with my family and attend to my business."

We quote from another letter, dated December 10, 1906: "I praise Peruna to all the sick. The people know my case, and they praise it also."

In a letter dated November 22, 1909, we quote Rev. Roberts: "Peruna gave me back my life. Ten years ago. All my acquaintances know that. I am certainly thankful to you for your kindness."

In a later letter, dated January 13, 1910, he says: "I shall ever in the future, as in the past, be ready to speak in praise of Peruna to all sufferers. I believe my miraculous cure has been the means of many others being cured in this country."

From a letter of September 5, 1911, we quote a few words: "I am still among the living. As to Peruna, I do not feel that I have words to express the faith I have in its merits. I feel that Peruna has been the means, through the kind providence of God, of prolonging my life for more than ten years."

We quote a still later letter, October 31, 1912. He says: "I took a severe cold three weeks ago. I at once sent for Peruna. Have been taking it two weeks. I am now better. I consider that Peruna has carried me over a dozen years of life. I always stand ready to answer any question in reference to Peruna."

We quote from his last letter, dated January 2, 1913: "Dear Friends: I wish this bright New Year to express my thanks to you for your kindness. Trusting that you may have a successful and happy year, and that your medicine may prove a blessing to many, as it has to me, I am yours as ever, G. W. Roberts, Hartsell, Alabama, R. F. D. 2, Box 27."

It is not necessary for us to add any words to this story. The eloquence and pathos of these letters are more convincing than arguments or affidavits. Who can doubt the clergyman's story? Who can doubt that Peruna saved his life?

Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "His of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

DO NOT EXPERIMENT with unknown brands on the crops you plan to raise, as you may lose the whole season. Use Essex High Grade Fertilizers which have been tested by actual use under all conditions and have always proved satisfactory. They supply plant food in the richest, most condensed form—Bone, Blood, Meat and Fish balanced with High Grade Chemicals. They nourish the crop until maturity is complete.

"SHALL I USE MORE ANOTHER SEASON?" The Essex Fertilizers have given me the best of satisfaction, and I raised potatoes on the Complete Maine method the first year. I had a good crop of corn raised on XXX, considering the dry season. I shall use more another season than this. W. A. JEWELL, Walpole County, Me.

The Faith of Mari

A Case of Too Many Wires

By AGNES G. BROGAN

A great city. There is a noise in the streets, over the streets, under the streets. A whirling mass of human beings in the morning rolls down from the north like the ebbing tide and flows up again in the evening. And all night the whirl goes on, but a different whirl. There is a glow of electric lights; the streets are full now not of workers, but of pleasure seekers. They pour into the theaters, into the hotels, into the restaurant. And then they pour out again.

Captives in the cage of the city jail, men moved about like bees in some mammoth hive, and not unlike the buzzing of bees came the continual hum of their low voiced conversation. Here rough faced men passed the anxious hours, engaged boisterously in a game of cards, while over their shoulders sat lost in deep brooding dejection.

One figure alone seemed to stand apart, different from them all. This difference might have been accounted for by the jaunty suit and cap and the high white collar which the young man wore; but after all, it was a certain infectious light of good humor in the boyish blue eyes, an irresponsible air of happiness, which distinguished Peter Olaf from his companions in crime. Once again he walked the length of the long room, keeping time to his step by a subdued though merry whistle; then he paused sociably at the side of a prisoner who glowered up at him. Peter spoke with a soft foreign accent.

"That makes twelve times around," he said. The man addressed lumbered to his feet, joining the youth in his walk.

"What chu here for?" he growled. The boyish blue eyes widened, while a dull red crept to the blond hair on Peter's forehead. "Bigamy," he announced briefly. The elder man stood still with a muttered exclamation.

"Bigamy," he repeated, and exclaimed again—"bigamy, a kid like you? What chu do it for?"

Peter Olaf shook his head. "I didn't mean to," he said slowly. "I-I don't know."

"It just happened. Far away in Russia was Mari. Before I came to this new country, Mari and I were married."

"Some day I would send her money; then she must come to me. So I told her we would be rich here and happy. And Mari was glad. At first I wrote to her long letters, and then—Peter stopped abruptly. When he spoke again his tone was harder, more constrained.

"Well, in the house where I boarded lived Bianca. I was lonely here in the strange country—oh, very, very lonely."

"Bianca was most kind and beautiful. Together we went to many places—out upon the ferryboats in the moonlight, down to the sands of the sea. And Mari seemed to fade away so far I could scarce remember her face! It grew dim like a dream one has almost forgot."

"And so I did not send to Mari the money. May not one have a new wife in a new country when one shall never return to the old? Bianca also had a lover who would have married her."

"This she told me. The boy passed his hand across his forehead. "So what could I do?" he asked. "Could I lose Bianca?" And then that day when we were married Mari comes along to this country. Alone she had worked and saved, and now she is here."

"And Mari asks them to find me for her—the officials—and when they find me I am married again. So you see it is bigamy. That is what they tell me, and I must be held for trial!"

The boy clenched the prisoner's sleeve fearfully. "What will they do with me?" he cried.

The hardened man, whose own crime had brought suffering to many, stared disgustedly into the frightened face.

"Do with you," he answered fiercely. "Do with you? I don't know, but I hope they will lock you up. I hope they make you work as she never thought of working—that little Russian thing you deserted. Chances are they won't do it, though. That innocent baby face of yours will carry you through. You'll only be deported."

"Deported?" questioned the boy, eagerly. The man turned on his heel.

"Yes," he answered gruffly—"sent back where your kind belong."

Peter Olaf stood considering. He seemed to see again the little village that had been his home, the tiny school-house where he and Mari had gone so many years together. Then across his memory flashed a picture of Bianca—Bianca of the crimson lips and laughing eyes. The great eeked doors just beyond the heavy screen opened now and closed with much grating of locks. As through a mist he saw the figures of an officer and a girl.

"Forty-five!" rang out the officer's voice, and the girl's slender figure came waveringly, indistinctly, toward him. A moment she stood, her white face pressed close against the veiling wires, her dark eyes shining golden black in the reflected light. Then with a joyful, half inarticulate cry Mari clasped her trembling hands.

"Peter," she whispered—"oh, Peter!"

Dumbly this guilty youth stood peering through his cage. The woollen shawl which the girl wore fell back from her head, revealing the well remembered clustering curls. The sound of his home tongue upon her lips brought a sob to Peter's throat.

"I came," Mari went on breathlessly, "to you, beloved. Because you had not been able to send me money, should that then keep us apart? So I worked and worked." The words melted into a soft, little laugh. "Oh, you did not know that I could be so clever, Peter—could of myself earn so much money, enough to bring me to the far America. But me, alone—I did it." The triumphant tone turned now to one of deep compassion. "And you, my Peter"—the girl said quickly—"they have made you suffer. Because of a cruel, wicked mistake they have placed you here behind their great locked doors."

"He is married in this country," the men tell me, but I ask them how can that be. It is foolish, for I am not Peter my husband, and have I not here our printed records? But the interpreter is very stupid, and he will not understand, and he tells me over and over again, 'Peter Olaf is married,' so I come away angry."

The girl tossed her head. "Be brave, beloved," she said, "and all will yet be well."

"Do not grieve that I must go back, for so they have ordered. 'Return at once to your own country,' the stern man said, as though that were punishment to me. I am glad—glad to go."

"Here the people are so strange and fine and grand; here no one cares. Mari caught her breath sharply. Tears welled in the golden black eyes. She waited, wondering at his silence, and then, with a sudden hopeless gesture, Peter stretched forth his arms.

"Mari," he murmured brokenly, "if I could but touch your hand."

"Have I not, then, the same long 'but' when they have learned their mistake, Peter, when they know of their wrong, then they will set you free, and you will hasten back to our happy home land."

"There will I be to welcome you and see in the garden our fruits and flowers are growing and upon the hills our sheep. So you will be content and happy forevermore, so you will never care again to wander."

"Mari," the boy cried out in despair, "how may I then come to you—I who am so unworthy?"

An attendant laid a kindly hand upon the girl's shoulder. "Time's up," he reminded. Mari looked back through the screen with reproachful eyes.

"You unworthy, Peter?" she said tenderly. "You—Then obediently Mari followed on up the stair. Outside before the jail a dark faced Italian paused to adjust the golden harp which he carried. At his side, in bizarre costume, tripped a red lipped girl. With a swift sidelong glance at the man she flitted her head in a tantalizing nod.

"I go in there, Toni!" she said. "I not play the boat today." The Italian stood looking down upon her with a sort of dogged devotion.

"You go to see him, Bianca," he said—"he who was not your husband. He fool you and lie to you, yet you can forgive?" The girl shrugged her shoulders.

"What do I forgive?" she asked pettily. "He leave her for me. If he leave me for her"—Bianca's eyes narrowed—"but Petro he not do that," she said. Halfway to the impressive entrance she turned back to smile at him. "You wait for me, Toni!" she called, and the Italian answered with sad resignation.

"Always I wait for you, Bianca," she smiled at Peter also, showing her pretty white teeth, as he drew near the forbidding screen.

"Hello!" she greeted him gayly. "Hello, but I cannot shake hands."

"Would you?" Peter asked her gravely. "Would you if you could?"

"Why not?" laughed Bianca. "You will be free," she added quickly. "I ask the man at the desk if they send you to jail, and he frown, and he say he think not. They send you back petros where you belong. But Petro," she whispered softly, "when you are free you will come back to me? Promise. I am your wife."

The boy leaned wearily against the screen. Through it came the fragrant breath of roses in her hair.

"Promise, Petro," the girl caressingly implored him.

"I will come back to you, Bianca," he answered evenly. She laughed a little as she turned away.

"Goodby," she said. And as she came out again into the light and found the Italian still waiting in patient hopelessness Bianca anticipated the burning question of his eyes.

"No," she said, slowly shaking her head; "no, Toni; he never come back to me; never, any more." The man leaned forward, unbelieving.

"He told you that?" he asked eagerly. "He not tell me," Bianca replied, with a shrewd little smile. "He not need to tell me; I know."

"Beloved," the man entreated and spoke no other word. For a moment the singing girl swayed her tambourine teasingly before her mocking face; then, suddenly serious, she gazed at him across the tinkling bells.

"Your kind, Toni," she said gently; "the slow kind. It is the best."

And far out upon the pier another girl sat, her upraised face glorified in the light of the setting sun, her dark eyes filled with dreams. "Deported," murmured a pitying voice, but the immigrant girl was smiling happily, as she followed the long line into the great white ship. Mari had entered upon the journey into her promised land.

WEST LOVELL.

Birthday Parties.

A pleasant gathering of friends met at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fox, Saturday evening, Feb. 7th, as a birthday surprise to their daughter, Leona, whose sixteenth birthday occurred Sunday following, and their candy and cake were enjoyed by the crowd. Many tokens of remembrance were left as mementos of the occasion.

I noticed the following for Leona: the spoon, Carol and Gladys McAllister; bow and cup and saucer, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McAllister; bow, George Nickols; postcard album, Wendell McAllister; bow, Evelyn Bowley; bow, Sarah and Etta Stearns; lace collar, Lillian and Nellie Lord; hat, Webster McAllister; gold glasses chain, father and mother; crocheted handbag and bow, Eva LeBaron; lace collar, Lotta Allard; two handkerchiefs, Geo. Andrews; box stationery, Z. McAllister and wife; plate, Mrs. Kate Williams; handkerchiefs, Myrtle LeBrock; handkerchiefs, grandama Lord; ring, J. H. Fox and wife; god watch and chain, father and mother; money, V. H. McAllister.

Corra had the following remembrances: cup and saucer and ring, Mr. and Mrs. George McAllister; signet ring, W. S. Fox and wife; bow, George Nickols; plate, Mrs. Kate Williams; lace collar, Lillian and Nellie Lord; tie, Sarah and Etta Stearns; 2 handkerchiefs, Geo. Andrews; handkerchiefs, Evelyn Bowley; handkerchiefs, Mrs. Alozo Lord; picture, Mr. and Mrs. Z. McAllister; money, V. H. McAllister; gold watch and chain, father and mother.

I will also mention the presents of Mrs. Evelyn Bowley, whose birthday occurred the same Saturday, and was also present: two bowls, mother; glass hair receiver and plate, J. H. Fox and family; bedspread, W. S. Fox and family; cut glass water set, Irving Bowley; necktie, Lillian and Nellie Lord; picture, Mr. and Mrs. Z. McAllister.

Mrs. Fred Stearns and children visited her aunt, Sarah Lord, Sunday.

Oris LeBaron packed his ice the first of last week and has since been working for Dell Stearns. V. H. McAllister and D. W. Nickols were packing their ice.

B. Hartford McAllister was injured by being caught between the end of the yoke and a tree when he was driving oxen in the woods for his son-in-law, D. E. McAllister. A physician was called and internal injuries were feared but was able to be dressed the next day. He has continued to gain though he has been very lame and sore.

To keep doughnuts fresh and moist tear up pieces of paper (clean paper bags will do) and scatter them between the doughnuts and on the bottom and top. Leave them there while using the doughnuts. They absorb the grease and keep them fresh and nice. Use new papers for each batch.

GIVE THAT PUNY CHILD THIS GUARANTEED REMEDY

If your child is under-weight, listless, thin, liable to get sick easily, it needs a medicine to build its weight and strength. For this purpose there is nothing else we know of that we can so strongly endorse as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. The remarkable success of this splendid medicine is due to the fact that it contains ingredients that tone the nerves, enrich the blood and furnish to the entire system the strength, weight, and health-building substances it needs. And, it does all this without injuring the stomach. In fact, Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is not only pleasant to take, but even the most sensitive stomach is benefited by it, and the digestion improved. On the other hand, it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, which most parents object to giving their children. It does its good work by taking hold of the weakness and builds the body up to its natural strength, at the same time making it strong to resist disease.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion doesn't build your child up, feed the stunted, puny muscles, and make the little one lively, strong, well, and full of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have, come back and tell us and get your money back. We don't want you to lose a cent. We think this is no more than fair, and it leaves you no cause to hesitate. For old people, also—for convalescents—for all who are nervous, tired-out, run-down, no matter what the cause—we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with the same guarantee of entire satisfaction or money back. Sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00.—F. P. Stone, 143 Main St., Norway, Me.

AFTER SICKNESS OR OPERATION

It is a pathetic mistake to accept drugs or alcoholic mixtures when nature craves nourishment to repair the wasted body and restore the vigor of health.

For forty years the best physicians have relied on the whole-some predigested nourishment in Scott's Emulsion which is totally free from alcohol or opiates.

Scott's Emulsion sharpens the appetite—renews blood—nourishes nerves—strengthens bones and restores the courage of health to make life bright.

Scott's Emulsion sets in action the very forces that promote health; it is pure, rich strength.

STATE OF MAINE. County of Oxford, ss: To the honorable Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, next to be held at Paris, within and for said county, on the second Tuesday of March, A. D. 1914.

Corra Kimball of Batchelders Grant in said county, wife of Charles S. Kimball, respectfully represents: that her maiden name was Corra Gopbill; that she was lawfully married to the said Charles S. Kimball at Fryeburg, in said county on the nineteenth day of October, 1902, by the Rev. Mr. Stone, a Minister of the Gospel; that they lived together as husband and wife in said Fryeburg from the time of their said marriage till October, 1909; that she has always conducted herself towards her said husband as a faithful, true, and affectionate wife; that in said month of October, 1905, the said Charles S. Kimball, utterly deserted her without cause and went to parts far from her, since which time she has never seen or heard from him, or received from him any support; that his residence is unknown to her and that she has been unable to ascertain the same though she has used great diligence.

Wherefore she prays that a divorce may be granted to her.

Dated at Bethel, Maine, February 3, 1914. CORA KIMBALL.

STATE OF MAINE. County of Oxford, ss: Then personally appeared the above named Corra Kimball and made oath to the truth of the above libel by her signed, and specially that portion of said libel wherein she represents that the residence of the said Charles S. Kimball is unknown to her and can not be ascertained though she has used great diligence.

Before me, H. H. HASTINGS, Justice of the Peace.
